6. The USSR will soon begin a secret concentration of the Red Army and expansion of the intelligence network in the Far East, in addition to maintaining diversionary units in Japan and China. The Army of the Far East is to become the most powerful unit of the Soviet armed forces and will be given the task of defending the entry into Siberia.
7. The military position of the USSR is not yet perfect, but it will start to improve in 1950. The battle for time and peace is at the same time a battle for victory.
